twin brothers, was receiving training at Camp Pike at the time when he received his honorable discharge. Blaine, the other twin, was in service at Camp Taylor and at Hattiesburg, Mississippi, and later he was in one of the military camps in the State of New York, besides doing guard duty in shipyards in that state. He was at Camp Sheridan at the time when he received his discharge.

Judge Stephen Combs attended the school in his home district, later attended the public schools of Whitesburg, and thereafter he pursued higher studies in the Mountain Training School at Hindman, under the direction of Prof. George Clark. In preparation for his chosen profession he entered the Jefferson School of Law in the City of Louisville, in which he was graduated as a member of the class of 1912 and from which he received his degree of Bachelor of Laws, with virtually coincident admission to the bar of his native state. Prior to this he had tested his pedagogic powers by teaching in four different rural schools in Letcher County. He initiated the practice of law at Whitesburg, where he has since maintained his home, and in 1915 he was here associated in practice with Judge David Hays, of whom personal mention is made on other pages of this work. He next became a member of the law firm of Lewis, Cook & Combs, with which he continued his active practice until he was appointed judge of the County Court in 1920, to fill out an unexpired term. His service on the bench continued about one year, and within his administration of this judicial office the voters of the county manifested in an electoral way their sanction of the issuing of road bonds by the county to the value of $300,000. This was initiated in an effective way the construction of good roads in Letcher County, an appreciable amount of constructive work in this line having been done prior to the retirement of Judge Combs from the bench. In January, 1921, he was elected county treasurer, and thus he is able to exemplify further his deep interest in his native county and to lend his personal and official influence in the furtherance of civic and material progress. He is a stalwart in the local camp of the republican party, is serving in 1921 as senior warden of the Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons at Whitesburg, his Masonic affiliations including membership in the Commandery of Knights Templars at Winchester and the Temple of the Mystic Shrine at Lexington, besides which he holds membership in the Knights of Pythias, the Loyal Order of Moose and the Order of Owls.

December 29, 1917, recorded the marriage of Judge Combs and Miss Charlotte Fields, who was born and reared in Letcher County, a daughter of M. C. Fields. Mrs. Combs and her infant daughter died on the 9th of December, 1918. She was a woman of culture and gracious personality, and prior to her marriage had been a popular teacher in the schools of her native county, she having attended school at Berea and also at the Eastern Kentucky Normal at Richmond.

THOMAS D. BURGESS, M. D., is a leading physician and surgeon of Lawrence County and controls a large and representative practice, with residence at Louisa, the county seat.

The Burgess family in America is of English origin. The Southern branch of the family was established by William Burgess, who first settled in Virginia, and on account of his religious belief he went to the South River Colony in Maryland in 1649. The official records of 1658 bear evidence that he was a Quaker, as in that year he declined to take the necessary oath to become justice. He represented the people in the House of Burgesses in 1659, and soon appears as high sheriff and justice of Anne Arundel County. Later he was commissioned as member of the council of the province, and when in 1684 Lord Baltimore sailed for England he appointed Hon. William Burgess as deputy-governor and lieutenant general of the province during his absence. He died in the year 1686, leaving a large family of children. Many of the Burgesses came back to Virginia from Maryland, whence their ancestor had fled because of being a Quaker. Many of his descendants resumed the simple faith of their ancestor and followed the persecuted Quakers to other states. During the Revolutionary war Burgesses lived in both Tidewater and Piedmont, Virginia, and took part in the war. They spread in settlement to different parts of the state, and one, John Meredith Burgess, came from Albemarle County as one of the early pioneers of the Kanawha Valley.

I. John Meredith Burgess married about 1812 Judy Cobb daughter of Fleming Cobb, who as a youth of thirteen years accompanied his uncle, Thomas Upton, from near Richmond to the Kanawha Valley in 1781. Judy Cobb was the granddaughter of Leonard Morris, the first permanent white settler in the Kanawha Valley, and a builder and protector of forts in the valley against the ravages of the Shawnee Indians during the Revolutionary war.

II. Fleming Cobb Burgess was the youngest of the five children of John Meredith Burgess and Judy (Cobb) Burgess. He married in 1835 Adelaide Wood, of Kanawha County, who was a descendant of the old Wood family of Virginia. He was a land owner and a timberman, but more successful as a farmer. He reared a large family of children.

III. James Washington Burgess was the eldest child in the family of Fleming Cobb Burgess and Adelaide (Wood) Burgess, and was born in 1837, near St. Albans. In 1860 he married Elizabeth Ann Harmon, of Cabell County, who was descended from a line of clergymen of the Baptist faith. The original Harmon family of the South came from England and lived for a time near the Moravian settlement in North Carolina, whence they came to the valley of Virginia. Elizabeth Ann (Harmon) Burgess traces her ancestors through the Brumfields of Wayne County, West Virginia, to her great-grandparents, John Hoover and Peggie (O'Brien) Hoover, of Lee County, Virginia, the former of whom was born in Germany and the latter in Ireland. Mr. and Mrs. Burgess lived near St. Albans until 1887, when they removed to Huntington, where they died, the former in 1904 and the latter in 1921. James W. Burgess and Elizabeth (Harmon) Burgess were members of the Missionary Baptist Church. He was a republican in politics and was deeply interested in community affairs of public order, especially in the maintaining of high standards of education. They had the following children: Victoria Evelyn is the wife of Dr. G. A. Shumate, of Glenlyn, Virginia; Adda Marguerite is a resident of Huntington, West Virginia; Frances C., with the title of B. S. from the University of Chicago, is a teacher in Marshall College at Huntington, and her twin sister, Anna L., died in 1888, at the age of twenty-three years, she likewise having been a popular teacher in Marshall College; and Dr. William Henry Burgess is an active practitioner of medicine at Williamson, West Virginia.

Dr. Thomas Dickinson Burgess was born in Kanawha County, West Virginia, December 15, 1869, and gained his early education in the public schools of his native county and then continued his studies in Marshall College at Huntington until he was nineteen years of age, when he began the study of medicine. At the age of twenty-two years he was graduated from the medical department of the University of Maryland, in the City of Baltimore, and in 1902 he completed an effective post-graduate course in the Post-Graduate College in the City of New York. He has specialized in surgery during the greater part of his professional career, and since receiving his degree of Doctor of Medicine he has practiced successively at Gilbert, Mingo County, West Virginia, three years; at Matewan, Mingo County, that state, fourteen years; and at Louisa, Kentucky, since that time. He has been for many years local surgeon for the Norfolk & Western Railroad, both while residing at Matewan, West Virginia, and since establishing his home at Louisa. During his fourteen years of residence at Matewan the doctor was retained as the official physician and surgeon for fourteen coal-mining companies in that section of West Virginia. Since coming to Louisa he has held the position of local surgeon for the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad. At Matewan he conducted a private hospital for a period of six years. Dr. T. D. Burgess during his fourteen years' residence at Matewan, West Virginia, was the first surgeon in Mingo County to perform a successful operation for penetrating gunshot wound of the abdomen, also the first in Mingo and adjoining counties to perform the successful operation for the removal of large Ovarian Cysts and likewise the first surgeon in Wyoming County, West Virginia, to perform the operation for abdominal pregnancy and of Cesarean Section in Pike County, Kentucky, the first of this series of major surgical operations having been performed by him in April, 1896. This pioneer surgery of this vicinity was performed under extreme disadvantage in the private homes of individuals in the rural district before any hospital had ever been established closer than 100 miles of this vicinity. His practice since his removal to Louisa has been extended to all parts of the Tug, Levisa and Guyan rivers district and into other sections of Eastern Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia, especially in connection with surgery, in which he has gained reputation that far transcends mere local limitations. At Matewan he served for twelve years as a member of the city council and the board of health, and he has given four years of effective and loyal service as a member of the city council of Louisa, and as chairman of its committee on municipal improvements he has been specially progressive and has been a strong advocate of the various measures that have been advanced for the general good of the community, especially in the excellent work that has been accomplished in the paving of city streets.

Doctor Burgess is actively identified with the Lawrence County Medical Society, the Kentucky State Medical Society and the American Medical Association. His political allegiance is given to the republican party; he is affiliated with the Master Masons Blue Lodge at Louisa, Kentucky, Chapter of the Masonic Fraternity at Wayne, West Virginia, the Commandery of Knights Templars at Ashland, Boyd County, where he likewise maintains affiliation with the El Hasa Temple of the Mystic Shrine. He is a member also of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Doctor Burgess is one of the directors of the Louisa National Bank and an extensive land holder in the mineral regions of Eastern Kentucky, as well as the owner of other valuable real estate in other sections of Kentucky and West Virginia.

In April, 1899, was solemnized the marriage of Doctor Burgess and Miss Willie Jane Burgess, daughter of Thomas Jefferson Burgess and Onolda Z. (Garred) Burgess of Gallup, Lawrence County, Kentucky, the former a descendant of the Burgesses of Albemarle County, Virginia, and an extensive land holder and farmer of the Big Sandy Valley, the latter tracing her ancestry through the Garred (also called Garrard, Garrett or Jarrett) family of French origin to James Garrard, fourth governor of Kentucky, and the Graham (or Greame) family, who are of Scotch-Irish descent, to the pioneer settlers of Augusta County, Virginia, one of whom, William Graham, son of Michael Graham, was the founder and for twenty years rector of Liberty Hall Academy, which later was called the Augusta Academy and still later became Washington and Lee University. He was educated at Princeton College numbering among his classmates James Madison, afterward President of the United States, Aaron Burr and Henry Lee, father of Robert E. Lee, and was a personal friend of George Washington. William Graham's ancestry goes back to Scotland, to Richard Graham (or Greame), known as Viscount Preston, who was secretary of state of Scotland under King James, was leader of the House of Commons and Earl of Montrose about the year 1685; also to James Graham (Greame) of Claverhouse, Viscount of Dundee, who was leader of the Clans of the Highlands of Scotland and who was the general in command of King James' army at the battle of Kilikrankie about the close of King James' reign when William Prince of Orange was crowned King; also to Malcolm Graham (Greame), who was bound in wedlock with a golden chain to Ellen Douglass by King James II; this Malcolm Greame being the same person referred to by Sir Walter Scott in his "Lady of the Lake." The Greame Coat of Arms being blazoned: quarterly: first and fourth or, on a chief sable three escallops of the field (for Greame). Second and third Argent, three roses gules, barbed and seeded proper (for Montrose) Crest; an Eagle, wings hovering, perched upon a heron, lying upon its back, proper, beaked and membered gules. Motto: N'Oubliez—Do not forget. The Garred Coat Armor is complete with Shield, Crest, Motto and Supporters. It is blazoned: Argent, a saltire gules. Crest: A lion rampant, crowned, or motto: En Dieu Est mon Esperance. The supporters are lions rampant, crowned or, each holding a spear.

Of the four children of Doctor and Mrs. Burgess three are living: Elizabeth Ann, aged nineteen, Cornelius Jefferson, aged fourteen, and Julia Jane, aged twelve. Thomas Dickinson, Jr., the second child, died in early childhood. Elizabeth Ann, who is a second year student at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, showed exceptional musical talent at the age of four years, when she began singing solos at church socials at Matewan, West Virginia, and at the age of fourteen was the soloist at several of the largest Red Cross meetings of the citizens of Lawrence County, Kentucky, during the engagement of the United States in the World war, in the activities of the citizens to raise financial support for the United War Work Relief Fund, at which meetings, covering a brief period, nearly $6,000 were subscribed by the tear-dimmed-eyed patriotic citizens of a community not accustomed to such form of solicitation, but who stood, both young and old, so loyally by every interest of the Stars and Stripes. Doctor and Mrs. Burgess hold membership in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The attractive family home, covering a space of four acres in the City of Louisa, is a center of gracious and unostentatious hospitality.

JOHN F. MARK is not only one of the representative farmers of the younger generation in Montgomery County but also has the interesting distinction of making the old homestead farm of the Mark family the stage of his progressive farm industry. This excellent farm is situated eight miles northwest of Mount Sterling, the county seat, on the Mount Sterling and Paris Turnpike, one of the best thoroughfares of the countryside of this section of the state. On this farm John Fisher Mark was born on the 13th of January, 1889, a son of Benjamin F. and Fannie (Roberts) Mark. The father likewise was born on this old homestead, the date of his nativity having been January 15, 1860. Benjamin F. Mark is a son of John and Nancy (Combs) Mark, and the former's father, Robert Mark, was the founder of the family in Montgomery County, he having come to Kentucky from Virginia and having been one of the early settlers in Montgomery County, where he acquired a large tract of land and developed much of the same to productiveness. Here he and his wife passed the remainder of their lives. John Mark became likewise one of the substantial farmers of this county, where he and his wife continued to reside until their deaths. Their children were twelve in number, namely: Fisher, Jason, William, Benjamin F. Rubie, James, Mary, Belle, Susan, Lizzie, Emma and Mug. Benjamin F. Mark was reared on the old home farm, and had the advantages of the public schools of the locality. After his marriage he settled on the farm now

Burgess Rites Are Today At Williamson

Special To The Independent
LOUISA, Ky., June 26 — Funeral rites for Dr. T. D. Burgess, 73, for many years a resident of Louisa, will be conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Methodist church at Williamson, W. Va.

Dr. Burgess died suddenly at his summer home in Shelbyville, Ky. Thursday. Mrs. Burgess and her sister had driven from Shelbyville to Louisville during the afternoon to attend the funeral of a relative. They discovered the body in the garden when they returned. He had suffered a stroke at his home in Williamson, W. Va. about six months ago and retired from active practice, going to his farm at Shelbyville to rest and recuperate.

The body was removed to his home in Williamson Friday evening. Rev. Fred B. Wyand, pastor of the Williamson Methodist church and Rev. Cecil Jones, pastor of the Baptist church, will officiate at the rites, and the body will be taken to Huntington, W. Va. for interment in the Burgess family plot.

Native of West Virginia

Dr. Burgess was born on a farm near St. Albans, Kanawha county West Virginia, a son of James W. and Elizabeth Harmon Burgess. His grandfather, Fleming C. Burgess, founder of the family in West Virginia, was a native of Virginia and of English descent. He was one of the pioneer farmers of the Kanawha Valley.

He entered Marshall college at the age of 19 and helped work his way through college by working in the C. & O. shops in Huntington. After two years at Marshall, he entered the University of Maryland at Baltimore, and was one of the ten honor students off his graduating class.

He located at Matewan, W. Va. where he established the first hospital in that section, then in early developments as a coal mining em-

BURGESS FAMILY OF LAWRENCE COUNTY

The Burgess family of the lower Big Sandy River region in Eastern Kentucky is of Scotch origin, the ancestors immigrating to America before the Revolutionary War. Edward Burgess I was the progenitor of this branch of the family. He was born, presumably in Virginia, circa 1744 and migrated with his family from Giles County, Virginia, to Floyd County, Kentucky, about 1806. He had service in the Revolutionary War and on the 15th day of June, 1818 filed in the Floyd County Court a declaration for a pension on account of such service wherein he stated, among other things, that he was 74 years of age and had resided in Floyd County about 12 years; that in 1779 he enlisted for 18 months in the company of Captain Newell under the command of Colonel "Bluford" (Buford) of the Virginia Regiment on the Continental Line; that he was in the battles at "Claps" Mills and Ramsour's Mill, North Carolina, and also was at Gates' defeat [at Camden, South Carolina, August 16, 1780] as a militiaman under command of Captain Thomas Williams; that he served out his enlistment and was honorably discharged at Hillsborough, North Carolina, in October, 1781.¹

EDWARD BURGESS I. m., presumably in Virginia, Nancy ———, (surname not learned) who was b. about 1747 and d. in Lawrence County, Kentucky, at an advanced age.

Children:

- *2. Edward Burgess II.
- *3. William Burgess.
4. Clara Burgess; m. Edward Winfield.
5. Rebecca Burgess; m. Lewis Rigglesby in Lawrence County, December 21, 1826. They migrated to Kansas and prospered.
6. Permitta Burgess; m. John F. McClannahan in Lawrence County, January 4, 1831.
7. Mary Burgess; m. ——— Williams. They went West.
8. Sarah M. Burgess; m. ——— Donohoe. They migrated to Kansas and became wealthy.

2. EDWARD BURGESS II, farmer and large landowner, was b. in Virginia, about 1801. He served as sheriff of Lawrence County; m. Elizabeth ———, b. in Virginia, about 1810. They had, among other children, sons:

9. George Burgess, who m. into the prominent Johns family; was a man of great integrity and honor and reared a large family.

10. Edward Burgess III.

*11. Gordon Burgess.

Children living at home and approximate dates of birth as shown by the U. S. Census of Lawrence County for the years 1850 and 1860:

12. James E. Burgess; b. 1830.
13. William H. Burgess; b. 1833.
14. John F. Burgess; b. 1835.
15. Francis M. Burgess; b. 1837.*
16. Mary J. Burgess; b. 1839.
17. Julia Burgess; b. 1841.
18. Davis Burgess; b. 1843.
19. George Burgess; b. 1844.
20. Elizabeth Burgess; b. 1846.
21. Edgar L. Burgess; b. 1849.
22. G. C. Burgess; b. 1850.

3. WILLIAM BURGESS. Very little has been learned relative to him. It is known that among his children were:

*23. Reuben Burgess and

24. George R. Burgess, who m. a Spurlock. He was the best known representative of the family; was a justice of peace of Lawrence County for 40 years; and was State representative from Carter and Lawrence counties, 1850.

There is for consideration the fact that 2 Edward Burgess II, and 3, William Burgess, brothers, each had a son, George. Consequently there is much confusion arising from these similar christain names.

GEORGE R. BURGESS; farmer, b. in Kentucky, about 1815; m. Martha —, b. in Virginia, about 1820.

Children living at home and approximate dates of birth as shown by the U. S. Census of Lawrence County for the year 1850 and for Boyd County for the years 1860 and 1870:

25. Octavia M. Burgess; b. 1837; m. George W. Andrews in Lawrence County, January 1, 1857.
26. Strother Burgess; b. 1839.

- 58. Nancy E. J. Burgess; b. 1869.

There were other Burgess families living in the Big Sandy Valley in pioneer days. The U. S. Census of Floyd County for 1810 bears the names of Garland, Henry and John Burgess. Garland Burgess m. Elizabeth Preston in Floyd County, February 22, 1810. Mrs. Elizabeth Burgess, sister to Moses Preston and Nathan Preston, Revolutionary War soldiers, gave her deposition in August, 1839, in the pension claim of Nathan Preston, stating she was 68 years of age. The U. S. Census of Lawrence County for 1860 bears the names of Henry Burgess, farmer, 87 years of age, b. in Virginia, Mary Burgess, aged 46, housekeeper, b. in Kentucky, and Elizabeth Chapman, boarder, aged 90.

The pioneer Burgesses were Methodists in religion. In politics they were divided. However, most of them were Democrats.

² One Francis M. Burgess had service in the Union Army during the Civil War. He was mustered into the service at Louisa, August 7, 1863, a second lieutenant, Co. "H", Fourteenth Kentucky Volunteer Infantry; died of wounds, August 10, 1864. (Report of the Adjutant General of Kentucky, 1861-65).
